

Blackout enables the easiest, fastest, and most comprehensive workflows for redacting sensitive information in Relativity.

In addition to image jobs, only Blackout automatically redacts native PDF and native Excel files. Blackout's ability to redact quickly - even when managing large volumes - makes it the best choice for complex redaction tasks involving sensitive information. That's why Blackout customers use it during litigation, compliance and procurement, human resources procedures, and much more.

Benefits

- Cut time and costs out of reviews with automated redactions
- Rule-based redaction allows for versatile application of Blackout to any task requiring markup
- Create efficiencies that drive down human error by redacting words, phrases, and text patterns simultaneously
- Ensure privileged information is secure while retaining native documents

Features

- Viewer seamlessly integrates into Relativity 10+
- Auto-redacts any sensitive information in imaged, native PDF, or native Excel files
- Redacts information not visible in the files, including file attachments, meta data, and document notes/comments
- Quality check with approval, reject and override options
- Mass import/export functions via .CSV file

How Blackout Works

Finds Any Sensitive Information

- Social Security Numbers
- Account IDs
- Credit Card Numbers
- Dates
- Contact Information
- Emails*
- Phone Numbers*
- Addresses*
- Charts
- Pivot Table Data
- Embedded Objects
- Notes/Comments

In addition to its object recognition capabilities, Blackout uses regular expression (regex) text strings to find terms in documents that match the regex pattern. Information is then redacted, marked up, or partial markup options are applied. The user's review team writes these with or without Milyli's assistance and can load them directly into Blackout or import them in bulk.
